1. KAUNAS CASTLE
(Pilies g. 17)
www.kaunomuziejus.lt

The castle at the confluence of the Ne¬munas and Neris rivers was built in the 14th century to defend against the onslaught of crusaders. This is not only one of the first stone castles in Lithuania, but also the only one that has two rows of defensive walls. A settlement that grew into the current city was created around the Gothic defences. Kaunas castle first mentioned in written sources in 1361. According to legend, Queen Bona Sforza's troops mysteriously disappeared in the tunnels underneath. Although it was restored multiple times, the castle lost its importance in 1408 when Kaunas was granted Magdeburg rights and the life of the whole city moved to the Market (Town Hall) Square. The castle was home to a prison in the 16th century and the souls of the prison’s inmates have not found peace to this very day, haunting the castle still by night. At present, the castle houses the Museum of Kaunas and annual cultural events are held in and around it. Near the castle stands an almost 7-meter high bronze sculpture “Freedom Warrior”.

2. ST. GEORGE THE MARTYR CHURCH AND BERNARDINE MONASTERY
(Papilio g. 7, 9)

This is one of the oldest churches in Kaunas, open since 1503. St. George the Martyr Church was given to the Bernardine monks settled in the city. The church was destroyed by fire and war many times and had to be rebuilt. In 1812 Napoleon’s army turned it into a flour warehouse. The last great reconstruction took place in 1936. Later, the Soviet government closed the church and turned it into a warehouse. The Church was returned to the Bernardine monks in 2005. The church was decorated with baroque wooden in¬stallations in the 18th century: a pulpit, organ choir with wooden galleries, and 8 altars. Some of them have survived to this day. The church interior is dominated by Gothic elements and Baroque features. There is an operating monastery on the south side of the church.

3. SANTAKA PARK
(Santakos g.)

What we call the heart of Kaunas. Walking around it you can see how the Ne¬munas and the Neris rivers converge. Santaka Park has plenty of tourist attractions: the altar that was used to perform pagan rituals, Pope Hill, where Pope John Paul II visited and held holy mass in 1993 and Pope Francis in 2018, a statue of John Paul II, St. George’s church and the Bernardine monastery ensem¬ble, Kaunas Castle.

4. KAUNAS TOWN HALL AND SQUARE
(Rotušės a. 15)
www.kaunomuziejus.lt

The Town Hall is currently closed for renovation, please check the infor¬mation on kaunomuziejus.lt. Kaunas was granted the Magdeburg rights in 1408, which meant the city could have self-government and control of trade. The marketplace and elected government (magistrate) headquarters comprised the nucleus of the city. The main trade route went through the current Town Hall Square; there was a market, too. Merchants’ families stayed around this square, building houses and setting up shop. When the city joined the Hanseatic League, the square became even more important because it operated as a commercial centre for the city and the surrounding area. The square is where trade took place, but also served as the venue for publication of magistrate rulings and the pillory to punish offenders. Artwork combining three stylistic periods – Gothic, Renaissance, Classicism – stands at 29 Town Hall Square. There have been vari¬ous premises in the building: a pharmacy, post office, small workshop, shops, and
The most important building in the Town Hall Square is Town Hall. Construction began in 1542. The stately building is filled with a Gothic, Baroque, and early classicist spirit; at all, slender tower like a swan's neck sprouts in the sky the main facade. Town Hall is often referred to as the White Swan because of its shape and colour. Its 53-meter-high tower is the tallest in the Old Town. The current Town Hall is not the first in Kaunas. The preceding one was destroyed by fire and then rebuilt. Through various centuries, the purpose of the Town Hall changed: this is where the city's markets, fairs, and trials took place; 9 wax melting furnaces, a prison, and warehouses were operated under the Town Hall building cobblestones. Currently, the Town Hall holds ceremonies and official events. At the town hall entrance you can see a unique 15th century wax melting furnace. Kaunas City Museum is located in the Town Hall (www.kaunomuziejus.lt). Its departments accumulate works of city history, science and industry, culture and the arts, and archaeology, as well as audiovisual materials. It is symbolic that the museum unveiled a commemorative plaque to Władysław Starewicz, a puppet animation pioneer, often called the European Walt Disney. Starewicz worked in the building for a while. A memorial plaque to him is held by insect sculptures depicting the director's three main cartoon characters: a stag-beetle, an ant, and a grasshopper.

5. THE KAUNAS ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH (JESUIT) (Rotušės a. 8)
The south side of Town Hall Square is dominated by a Baroque Jesuit church with a convent and school buildings on either side. Construction of this late Baroque style, rectangular, two-tower church began in 1666, but it was only consecrated in 1759. The Jesuit monastery terrace operates a viewing platform overlooking the Town Hall Square and the beauty of Old Town. Next to the school in the church in 1819-1823, romantic poet Adomas Mickevičius taught and lived. This is confirmed by a memorial plaque on the school building. At present, the school is a Jesuit Gymnasium.

6. THE HOUSE OF PERKŪNAS
(Aleksoto g. 6)
www.perkunonamas.lt
It is considered to be the only trading post in Lithuania that belonged to the Hanseatic merchants. This is an old monument to original Gothic architecture, built in the second half of the 15th century. It is a stone building with an ornate pediment and a spacious basement. The main facade of the building is decorated with rectangular niches and a decorative solar symbol composed of glazed stones. The real purpose of the house is unknown. Legend has it that a sculpture of the god Perkūnas was discovered in one of the walls here and that priestesses kept an eternal flame lit here. However, researchers have collected a number of items from the house and determined the bust to be purchased from Hanseatic merchants. Probably most homes were built for commercial affairs, and the name of the Perkūnas House was given to it later to point out Kaunas independence from foreign merchants and pay homage to ancient Lithuanian religious – pagan – traditions. The Adomas Mickevičius Museum is also located here; he was one of the most famous romantic poets who lived in Kaunas.

7. THE KAUNAS BLESSED VIRGIN MARY OF THE ASSUMPTION CHURCH (AKA THE VYTAUTAS THE GREAT CHURCH)
(Aleksoto g. 3)
This is oldest church in Kaunas, built in 1400. It is the only Gothic-style church with a cross-shaped plan in Lithuania. According to historians, the Lithuanian Grand Duke Vytautas was beaten up in battle with the Tatars at Vorskla and almost drowned in the river. Upon his rescue, to show his gratitude, Vytautas promised the Virgin Mary to build a church on the bank of the river. The church first referred to in documents in 1439, belonged to the Franciscans. The waterfront at the Vytautas church was equipped with a marina so that sailboats could moor, and later steamers. In 1877 a Nemunas water level gauging station was established next to the church. The station meter is installed on a granite wall. Zero altitude is 20.8 meters above sea level.

8. VYTAUTAS THE GREAT BRIDGE
Aka the longest bridge in the world. In order to cross the bridge from one bank of the Nemunas to the other took 13 days, because Kaunas belonged to the Russian Empire and Aleksotas to the Prussian kingdom up to 1807. The different sides of the river had different calendars, which included a 13-day difference. During World War II the bridge was blown up twice, only to be reborn in 1948 (architect Levas Kazarinskis); the bridge retraction mechanism is still of use today. Having crossed the Nemunas you can try the funicular and the climb to the Aleksotas area where you will see a breathtaking panorama of Kaunas.
9. THE ALEKSOTAS FUNICULAR AND OBSERVATION DECK
(Amerikos Lietuvių g. 6)
Kaunas is the only city in the Baltics where you can use this type of transportation. It is one of the oldest funiculars in Europe, in operation since 1935, still used for transport, as well as an attraction. The Aleksotas funicular connects the old part of the city with the Aleksotas hillside overlooking the beautiful panorama of Kaunas Old Town.

10. BENEDICTINE MONASTERY AND ST. NICHOLAS CHURCH
(Benediktinių g. 8)
The monastery complex is situated in the northern part of the Old Town in Kaunas, on the Antakalnis hillside. The building complex consists of the church, convent, and rectory. The Gothic church of St. Nicholas was built in the 15th century. In the beginning of the 17th century, nobleman Andriejus Skorulskis of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania appealed to King Zigmantas (Sigismund) III asking the church to donate to the yet-to-be Kulm Congregation Benedictine monastery. During the 18th century, the Holy Heart of Jesus Brotherhood was founded at the St. Nicholas Church and for some time the monastery operated a school for girls. Until the closure of the monastery the church was used as a public library book repository in 1948-1990. In 1990 the church was repaired and returned to the faithful; the Congregation of Benedictine Sisters returned to the monastery. The altar of Saint Benedict and three 18th-19th century paintings have survived from the old church facilities.

11. THE KAUNAS ST. PETER AND ST. PAUL CATHEDRAL
www.kaunoarkikatedra.lt
This was established by Duke Vytautas the Great in about 1413. In 1430 Vytautas granted funding to the church, providing it with income. Other Grand Dukes of Lithuania also cared for the parish Church: Aleksandras, Žygimantas Senasis, Zigmantas Vaza, Jonas Kazimieras Vaza, and Stanislovas Augustas Poniatovskis. The church was one of the first and oldest brick buildings in Kaunas. Gothic and Renaissance styles dominate the architecture, and in the interior the most prominent is the Baroque layer with historicism (neo-gothic, neo-baroque) and 20th-21st century complements. The Cathedral has nine altars. Especially valuable are the sacristy’s first and second floor crystal vaults. This is a late Gothic decorative design, the building of which was the highest testament of mastery to each craftsman who worked on it. This is one of the most extensive vaults in Europe. The western wall contains the grave of Jonas Mačiulis Maironis, priest and poet. Also buried in the cathedral are Žemaitija bishop Motiejus Valančius, as well as the first cardinal of Lithuania, Vincentas Sladkevičius.

12. VILNIAUS GATVĖ (VILNIUS STREET)
It is the central and most beautiful street of the Old Town. It is the oldest street in the city, part of the former medieval road to Vilnius. Following reconstruction it became exclusively pedestrian and continues to be the axis of the old town. Many of the buildings on the road were wooden. Later came the red-brick houses of wealthy citizens, some of which have survived to this day.

13. HISTORICAL PRESIDENTIAL PALACE
(Vilniaus g. 33)
Construction of the Presidential building began in 1846. When Kaunas became the provisional capital (1919-1939), all the political, economic, and cultural life moved here. All three of the then-presidents of the Republic of Lithuania worked and lived in the Presidential Palace: Antanas Smetona, Aleksandras Stulginskis, and Kazys Grinius. In 1923-1924, during Aleksandras Stulginskis’ presidency, the building was renovated. The first floor was turned into a residence for the President’s family, central heating was put in, and the second floor gallery was encased in glass. During the presidency of Antanas Smetona, the territory of the Presidential Palace was enclosed with a new fence, which remains to this day. The first floor premises at the Presidential Palace had been designated for work, and the second floor had two drawing rooms for official receptions. Official government delegation receptions took place in the larger one, such as foreign diplomats presenting letters of credence to the President. Nowadays the Museum of the Historical Presidential Palace in Kaunas is located in this building. Sculptures of the Presidents of the Republic of Lithuania who there worked can be seen in the courtyard.

14. LAISVĖS ALĖJA (FREEDOM AVENUE)
When you visit Kaunas, you must walk down this important street in Naujamiestis (New Town), Kaunas, which is one of the longest pedestrian streets in Europe. The street is nearly 1.7 kilometers long and points exactly east and west. Walking down Laisvės Alėja you will have the unique opportunity to learn about the unique and plentiful Kaunas interwar modernist architectural heritage, which is a reflection of the intelligentsia, industry, government, and diplomatic institutions that once moved here. To this day, Kaunas remains probably the only city in the world where so many modernist, German Bauhaus style buildings were built and still stand: the former Lithuanian Post, Kaunas State Musical Theatre, Bank of Lithuania, and many others. Also on Laisvės Aleja you will see the monument of Vytautas the Great, as well as a sculpture standing near the fountain of Danielius Dolskis, pop song pioneer of the Lithuanian interwar period. The avenue is full of restaurants, cafés, and cosy shops.

15. ST. GERTRUDE CHURCH
(Laisvės al. 101A)
www.gertrudosbaznycia.lt
Built in the second half of the 15th century. This is one of the most exclusive Lithuanian Gothic monuments. The crucifix sculpture, which has long been famous for its graces, is the most valuable sacred thing at the Church of St. Gertrude. Next to the church in the candle shrine donors can light candles that burn for 7 days, during which people pray for each other. It teaches compassion even to complete strangers.

16. KAUNAS STATE PHILHARMONIC
(L. Sapiegos g. 5)  www.kaunofilharmonija.lt

The place was built in 1928. It was designed by the architect Edmundas Frykas. The building is four stories high and is neoclassical style with Art Deco elements. Initially, the building was intended only for the Ministry of Justice, but later they decided to house the Seimas there too. Currently, national professional music culture and traditions are nurtured and developed at the Philharmonic, Lithuanian and foreign music is performed, and the world of musical culture is conveyed creatively.

(E. Ožeškienės g. 13)  www.kaunasjews.lt

This is the only surviving synagogue and Jewish prayer house still in operation in Kaunas, built in 1872. The synagogue is called choral, because ceremonies are carried out there accompanied by the choir singing. The reformed choral synagogue is a neo-Baroque building. The interior is decorated in typical Jewish art plant and animal motifs. Kaunas synagogue is one of three currently operating synagogues in Lithuania (the others are in Vilnius and Klaipėda).

18. COURTYARD GALLERY
(E. Ožeškienės g. 21A)

More than a decade ago an artist Vytenis Jakas moved into a house in this courtyard and noticed that neighbours are distant and fail to remember the shared past of the courtyard. V. Jakas started transferring photos of Jewish families that used to live here on building walls and received great support. One by one other objects appear in the courtyard, new artists leave their mark, neighbours’ celebrations take place, tourists come round. However, let’s not forget that people who live here have the right to peace and quiet.
COURTYARD GALLERY – is the only gallery in Lithuania open 24/7. Exhibits are being updated ALL THE TIME!
19. MONUMENT TO VYTAUTAS THE GREAT
(Laisvės al.)
In 1930, to commemorate the 500th anniversary of the death of Lithuanian Grand Duke Vytautas, a monument was created by sculptor Vincas Grybas. The original soviet era sculpture disappeared. It was never found, so a copy was made. It was erected in 1990. The history of Vytautas the Great is a stunning example of a political career. By the 14th century, Lithuania had already been at war with the Teutonic Order with the support of the whole of Western Europe for one hundred and fifty years; the Crusades were isolating Lithuania from the rest of the Western countries. Jogaila introduced Christianity in Aukštaitija (the Highlands) and began to eliminate the isolation, but turned control of the Lithuanian state over to Poland. In the year 1409, Vytautas the Great finally took back Žemaitija (the Lowlands) from the Teutonic Order, which he later christened. The greatest of Vytautas’ merits is considered to be routing the Teutonic Order at the Battle of Žalgiris (Battle of Grunwald) in 1410. Vytautas won global fame as the greatest military leader of a late medieval battle.

27. MONUMENTAL CHRIST’S RESURRECTION BASILICA
(Žemaičių g. 31B)
www.prisikelimas.lt

The architect Karolis Reisonas designed the church, and construction began in 1932 funded by donations; but in 1940 the church building was seized. Work was already coming to an end when Lithuania lost its independence, only the interior was yet to be installed and the outside was not plastered. The Sobor was designed by Russian architects and decorated by Petersburg artists. In 1919 it was transformed into a Catholic St. Michael the Archangel church garrison. In 1965 the church became a stained glass and sculpture gallery. The square is painted in white paint at the foot of Parodos hill where Parodos street, K. Donelaitis street and Vytautas avenue meet. On the road surface a Fluxus Aztec is drawn showing his tongue. The settlement of the Nemunas and Neris rivers, from which Kaunas arose, was first mentioned in 1361. Then they built the castle here to defend against the attacks of the Teutonic Order, which turned out to be vital not only for the city but also for all of Lithuania.

Historians believe that early as 1408 Lithuanian Grand Duke Vytautas granted Kaunas Magdeburg rights. It was on the basis of these rights that the city formed its first council, a privilege which was later confirmed by all of the Grand Dukes of Lithuania. A favourable geographical location played a significant role in the growth of Kaunas, as well as the waterways, Nemunas and Neris, which allowed the city merchants to gradually enter into trade with Danzig, Toruń, and Konigsberg. From the 15th century Kaunas had customs authorities that regulated all national trade over water and land routes with neighbouring Prussia. Kaunas experienced an economic boom in the 16th century. The first school, hospital-shelter and a pharmacy, and craftsmen workshops were launched here. An abundance of brick buildings in Kaunas distinguished it from most of the other cities in the Grand Duchy of Lithuania at the end of century. In the first half of the 17th century it was surrounded by a stone wall. Still, there were the mid-17th century wars and the six-year Russian czarist military occupation (1655-1661), because of which many of the towns people were forced to flee to Prussia, and during which a fever epidemic struck a huge blow to the welfare of Kaunas. The recovering Kaunas was once again smacked down by the Northern War (1700-1721). In 1732 a great fire ravaged the city. Urban development was slowed by political turmoil in the state and the frequent presence of the Russian imperial army crew (1734, 1735, 1748, and 1767-1775).

A flourishing town
You could see signs of the city's recovery seen in the second half of the 18th century. It continued through the 1732 fire that severely affected the parish church reconstruction, complete Town Hall reconstruction in 1781, Guest house was built in 1786, which can be called and the first hotel in the city, the city buildings were numbered in 1792, and bridges were built over the Nemunas and Neris in 1794.

Unrest continues
Kaunas fell to Czarist Russia after the third division of Lithuania and Poland in 1795. In 1801 another great fire ravaged the city. Kaunas found itself in the midst of the Franco-Russian War of 1812. The French Emperor Napoleon Bonaparte himself moved his hundreds-of-thousands-strong Grand Army over the Nemunas near the city. Kaunas was the first city occupied by the French imperial army in this war. It was devastated twice during the war when the Grand Army marched into town and during their retreat.

Towards a modern city
In 1843 Kaunas became the centre of the newly established province. Nicholas Avenue started to turn into a boulevard in 1847 (what is now Laisvės Alėja). A railway line built, as well as the first modern railway bridge over the Nemunas in 1862, and the first power plant was launched in 1898. The Czarist government resolution regarding transfer of the Žemaičiai (Telšiai) Bishopric centre from Varniai to Kaunas in 1864 brightened the city's cultural life. Kaunas amateur Reading Society was founded in 1870, which established the first public library in the city, but any proactive cultural expression was affected by Russian policies, which inhibited any national activities. Kaunas was awarded Class I fortress status by the Russian imperial border military in 1879. From 1882 until the First World War Kaunas was surrounded by fortifications, forts, and a ring of batteries (an orthodox church and military garrison sobor devoted to the Russian soldiers in Kaunas was built in 1895). The Konke horse-drawn tram began operating under contract with Swiss engineer Diuponu in Kaunas in 1892, a line stretching from the Town Hall Square to the railway station. A 500 person occupancy city theatre was also built that same year.
Kaunas – the temporary capital of Lithuania

During the First World War, Kaunas was occupied by Germans in 1915-1918. After the First World War, Lithuania began to build the Republic and because Vilnius was occupied by the Russians (1919), the State Council and the Cabinet of Ministers were established in Kaunas. When Vilnius was occupied by Poland, Kaunas became the temporary capital and most important city of Lithuania in 1920. The same year came the Constituent Assembly met and laid the legal foundations for restored state. Kaunas remained the temporary capital until 1939. Having become the political, cultural, and economic centre of the country, Kaunas came to life a little, taking on modernity and Europeanism in the interwar period. The city was decorated by new buildings (Kaunas interwar architecture), the old ones were renovated, and bridges were built. Buses started running in 1929. The city began to operate the Žaliakalnis and Aleksotas funiculars improving transportation connections in 1931 and 1935. The opera theatre opened in 1920. Two years later the national theatre opened. Also in 1922 the University of Lithuania was established, which was renamed Vytautas Magnus University in 1930. The first national Olympiad took place in Kaunas in 1938, and the European basketball championship was organized in 1939, for which a sports hall accommodating five thousand people was built. The Russian army occupied Lithuania in June 1940. During the Second World War, the Soviet army occupied Kaunas in 1944. The second Soviet occupation began. After the restoration of Lithuania’s independence in 1990, Kaunas opened up for development and cooperation opportunities with foreign cities.

THE HISTORY OF KAUNAS FORTRESS

Two of the largest Lithuanian rivers are situated in Kaunas; they have long played an important role in defence. The exceptional strategic position of this place was appreciated by Russians taking over Lithuanian lands as far back as 1795. Ever deteriorating relations with neighbours forced us to consider strengthening our western border. Czar Alexander II signed a decree on the construction of the Kaunas fortress.
in 1879, and by February 1880 long-term fortification plans were drawn up. The city was surrounded by 7 forts and a stationary ring of 12 batteries. Two years later, 24 April 1882, Kaunas fortress construction officially began. The forts were built in several stages: first a road was laid to the fortification, the location where the work was to be carried out, including building barracks, gunpowder warehouses, and other facilities. Construction of one fort took about 3-5 years. In addition to the forts and batteries, construction of central fortifications and the central warehouses on both banks of the Nemunas began in 1885. Outside the ring of forts, the fortress infrastructure was built; commandant headquarters, intendant office, main headquarters, board of engineers and engineering headquarters, residential houses of officials and construction workers, telephone-telegraph, electricity, water supply stations, military, railway stations, elevators, mill, grain storage, war pigeons station, fire station, and harbours. Military towns grew in Žemieji Šančiai and Aukštoji Panemunė. Soldiers’ spiritual affairs were not forgotten: the Saints Peter and Paul Sobor was built in 1891-1895. Construction of the eighth fort began the right bank of the Neris River in 1889. The newest and most modern ninth fort arose in the highlands northwest of Kaunas in 1903-1913. This is the first and only surviving fort of the Kaunas Fortress; they used masonry concrete for its construction. The plan to reinforce the fortress was approved 23 April 1913. It provides for the construction of an additional 12 forts and 12 base stations forming a second, larger, 4717 km long fortification ring around the city. All work stopped on 28 July 1914, with the beginning of the First World War. Before the war, there was enough time to fully complete the construction of nine forts and ten batteries. The Russian Empire’s 1st class terrestrial Kaunas Fortress was occupied by Germany on 18 August 1915.

Forts today

Since the end of the war and the restoration of Lithuania’s independence, Kaunas Fortress has never again been used for its original purpose. The administrative buildings of Kaunas Fortress were taken over by Lithuanian state institutions and used for various other purposes: a prison, warehouses, archives, residents of apartments, etc. During World War II Lithuania was occupied by Nazi Germany, and the fourth, seventh, and ninth forts were used for the mass murder of civilians. Today Kaunas residents and guests are invited to get acquainted with these massive objects of defence – the Kaunas Fortress – as well as the history of the seventh and ninth forts and the museums operating there.

There is a three part sculpture rose in front of the IX Fort – it is a monument to Nazi victims.
The unique modernist architecture of Kaunas (1919–1940) got the European Heritage Label in 2015. European Heritage Label is a European Union initiative that seeks to hallmark the historical and cultural heritage sites and their importance to Europe and European Union’s creation.
The interwar architecture is a Kaunas city icon. The city became Lithuania’s centre in the first part of the twentieth century and is still modern and forward-thinking.

After the First World War, with the restoration of Lithuania’s statehood, and due to other historical circumstances, Kaunas became the most important city in Lithuania. Public authorities and the intelligentsia rallied in Kaunas. Industry began to develop. Kaunas took over the helm of the national capital and became a modern symbol of independent Lithuania. Thankful circumstances also contributed to this: society was ready for change; the city needed various buildings, but they could only be designed by talented, gifted, learned architects who had studied abroad and brought their knowledge back to Lithuania to put to work. In carrying out the functions of the state capital in the first half of the 20th century, Kaunas suddenly acquired a unique significance on the map of Europe. The architects of our young state harmoniously integrated into the European context by developing an advanced city. Individual buildings, neighbourhoods, and complexes had a major impact on the entire city image emerging in the temporary capital. Kaunas became the centre of science, culture, and education: institutions such as the University of Lithuania, the Art School, higher education physical education courses, theatres, opera houses, the radio, the Military Museum, and the astronomical observatory were established. Industry developed rapidly in Kaunas, there was an active European lifestyle about, and great attention was paid to culture and sport. In this regard, the sports hall was built in 1939, where the Lithuanian men’s basketball team won the European Championship title for the second time, as if hanging a wreath around the neck of Kaunas. This transformation of Kaunas into a European city left a significant mark in later Lithuanian state development: due to the country’s willingness to fight for freedom, break out of the Soviet occupation, the city formed a mental identity and a physical face. This is only the second architectural period (not counting baroque) when Lithuanian architecture went hand in hand with the whole of Europe. An abundant Kaunas interwar architecture accumulated over 20 years, its dense concentration in the city is a unique phenomenon in Europe; in the context of international modernism it reflects both the then Bauhaus style trends and unique style of Lithuanian nationalism which distinguishes a modern, highquality Kaunas interwar architecture from the European mainstream.

WOODEN ARCHITECTURE IN KAUNAS

The tradition of wood construction was widespread in Lithuania. Many old rural homes and wooden church have been studied. Trees were a popular building material in interwar Kaunas because masonry construction costs were too high for many home owners. Today the wooden architecture of the city is perceived as an aesthetic and ethical value. Wooden architecture experts see the value of the houses; they discover it on the educational tours of Žaliakalnis, Panemunė, Šančiai, and Vilijampolė as well. For heritage lovers, the intrinsic value of wooden houses is indisputable. Without these houses the city would lose a very important part of its cultural identity. Unfortunately, only a small portion of the inter-war wooden houses passed the test of time and resisted the social and economic temptations, but they keep alive the interwar Kaunas suburban spirit.

Historical circumstances led to the 1919-1940 period being named the era of diplomacy in Kaunas.

Thanks to historical circumstances, Kaunas became the temporary capital of the reborn State of Lithuania (1918). Lithuania took the first steps to nationhood there: the country’s most important institutions and foreign diplomatic missions were founded. Kaunas was never officially ratified in writing as the temporary capital. In diplomatic terms, Kaunas became the de facto capital of Lithuania when the provisional government moved to here from Vilnius on 2 January 1919. That same year, the central street of the town was renamed Laisvės Alėja (Freedom Avenue), and a street abutting it in honor of February 16th. And the streets still have those names today. The first president in the history of Lithuania was elected in Kaunas. On 4 April 1919, in Kaunas, the Council of Lithuania elected Antanas Smetona. The Constituent Assembly of Lithuania gathered in the capital, Kaunas, for its first meeting on 15 May 1920, in the State Theatre, the current Musical Theater. The country’s most important institutions operated in Kaunas, among them the Lithuanian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, which had a critical challenge to establish diplomatic relations with foreign countries and represent Lithuania in the international arena. Diplomatic missions gradually began to settle here. First of all the diplomatic missions of the great powers visited Kaunas – the US, Britain, and France – and later permanent embassies and consulates of these and other countries settled in. These government agencies and foreign representative offices operated in Kaunas in 1939:

KAUNAS – UNESCO DESIGN CITY

Launched in 2004, the UNESCO Creative Cities Network (UCCN) aims to strengthen cooperation with and among cities that have recognized creativity as a strategic factor of sustainable development as regards economic, social, cultural and environmental aspects. By joining the Network, cities acknowledge their commitment to sharing best practices, developing partnerships that promote creativity and the cultural industries, strengthening participation in cultural life and integrating culture in urban development plans.

The UNESCO Creative Cities Network covers seven Creative fields: Crafts and Folk Arts, Design, Film, astronomy, Literature, Media Arts and Music. In December, 2015 Kaunas has joined the UNESCO Creative Cities Network and became the first city in Eastern and Western European countries that received the Design City Status. 2017 Kaunas modernism architecture application “Kaunas 1919-1939: The Capital Inspired by the Modern Movement” was put on the Tentative List of UNESCO World Heritage Convention.

KAUNAS AND KAUNAS DISTRICT ARE BECOMING A HUGE EUROPEAN CULTURAL SCENE

Culture will be inescapable!

Kaunas 2022 encompasses over 1000 events! More than 40 festivals, 60 exhibitions, 250 performing arts events (of which more than 50 are premieres), and over 250 concerts are planned to take place in 2022. All this is delivered by Kaunas 2022’s team of 500 people, alongside 80 local and 150 foreign partners. 140 cities in Lithuania and the world, 2,000 artists, 80 communities, and 1,000 volunteers.

Meet the Mythical Beast of Kaunas

So far, no city has tried to change the course of its life by creating a new myth. The Beast is a metaphor, a cultural allegory that raises questions about the Beast in the city and inside us. Three main events of the European Capital of Culture, the Trilogy of the Contemporary Myth of Kaunas, are the uprising, revelation and contract with it.

The Trilogy of the Contemporary Myth of Kaunas “From Temporary to Contemporary”:

Act I: The Confusion (January 19-23, 2022). More than 100 events, including premieres, exhibitions, concerts and spectacles of light and fire, all connected through the new myth of Kaunas and the uprising of the Beast.

Act II: The Confluence (May 20-22, 2022). The second act of the trilogy is dedicated to unity. Numerous occasions and two significant events at the confluence of two rivers are coming up, namely a mystery directed by Oskaras Košunovas and a show on the water by the British theatre professional Chris Baldwin.

Act III: The Contract (November 25-27, 2022). Hundreds of contemporary opera performers will create an impressive audiovisual show followed by an exclusive exhibition to strengthen the deal.
Now take a seat and hold tight – they are definitely coming to Kaunas!

William Kentridge, Marina Abramović, Yoko Ono, Robert Wilson, Mirga Gražinytė-Tyla, Modestas Pitrėnas, Edgaras Montvidas, Oskaras Koršunovas, Janet Cardiff and George Bures Miller, Jonas Mekas, prof. Antony Polonsky, Boris Gibé, Olivier Grosse-tête, and many others. Also, festivals that are unique in terms of their scale, programme, and artistic quality – ConTempo, Audra, Kaunas Literature Week, Citytelling Festival and the International Day of Happiness.

CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTING AND A CHRISTMAS MARKET
www.kaunas.lt
Forget about every day worries and go for an adventure — Kaunas can offer plenty of them: rock climbing, adventure parks, bungy jumping, beach volleyball arena, the only race circuit in Lithuania, rope park, paintball and many other possibilities for active free time!

Activities in the nature
Santaka and Nemunas Island Parks are among other places worth seeing in Kaunas. These parks are excellent recreational areas where you can not only go for a walk but also do some sport and take part in sport or entertainment events. Nemunas Island Park is open to everyone who is a beach volleyball enthusiast — there are four courts. Also in Santaka park there is a brand new skateboard, rollerblade and BMX park. In most of Kaunas parks there are equipment for outdoor fitness, children playgrounds and chess tables.

In Jadagoniai, a place near Kaunas, you can try out rock climbing outdoors – it's a unique place in Lithuania where you have to pull yourself up by grabbing different objects on trees or hold on a giant web. You can also play some outdoor tennis, beach volleyball and check out the mud route.

If you want to spend your free time actively without leaving the city, you should head to an adventure park nearby Lampėdžiai lake. Here are various routes: from the fast route for the little ones where they can feel confident and strong to the 16 metre Dramliaskrydis which lets you experience the free fall. If you don’t mind getting wet, we suggest water trampolines and the wakeboarding park.

Challenge accepted!
The escape rooms is a great way to spend time with your friends, colleagues or family. It’s a place where your logical thinking, imagination and attention to detail help you find different clues and solve problems in order to escape a locked room. If you can’t stay still, we suggest to pay a trampoline park a visit. Here’s no ground under your feet nor the fear of heights.

A day not to forget for the little ones
Lithuanian Zoological Gardens in Kaunas invites you to see more than 2000 animals. There are over 250 species in this collection many of which are in the Lithuanian and the international The Red List of Threatened Species. Many educational events are organised in the zoo among which are the night at the zoo and others. The Zoo is temporarily closed for renovation until 2023, please follow the information here www.zoosodas.lt

Another site to visit is Tadas Ivanauskas Zoology Museum in Kaunas that has already been running for 100 years. You can find 17 000 items in 2500 square metres! You simply must find the time to explore them all. When one wants to play, experience, learn and feel at the same time, one must go to the CurioCity – the largest educational entertainment centre for children in the Baltic states. Here you launch into the sky in a spaceship, slide on a rainbow, solve detective mysteries and accept other challenges. In the warm seasons our city is full of soap bubbles; you just need to go to the agreed location and enjoy the dance of colourful bubbles! Don’t forget to check the programmes of different city theatres – there’s plenty of performances for children.
Water tourism in Kaunas offers many opportunities to enjoy both the city and the beautiful outdoors. All that remains is to choose the most suitable trip for you! Just do not forget to take care of tickets in advance!

1. THE INTERNAL EXPOSITION OF KAUNAS LAGOON REGIONAL PARK

The transformation of the Nemunas River into a lagoon is the main theme of the exposition, which combines a rich and dramatic history of certain villages and the most significant changes in the 20th century Lithuanian landscape. The main highlight of the exhibition is the layout on which the image is projected, which, like a time machine, takes us to a distant past: we will get to see how the last glaciers retreated, the formation of the Nemunas and its valley, and how it eventually turned into Kaunas Lagoon.

2. FIFTH FORT OF THE KAUNAS FORTRESS

Alongside Kaunas Lagoon there are two unique pieces of Eastern European fortification architecture and military history within the monumental Kaunas fortress ring: the Fifth Fort, reminiscent of Imperial Russia, the two Vaišvydava bunkers, and the remains of the First World War Railway (Palemonas) fort bunkers circuit. The Fifth Fort was built in 1889 and is distinguished by its layout: pentagonal-shaped, asymmetrical, and adapted to the environment. Fort territory plantations and antiaircraft missile base buildings construct during the Soviet period shape the territory landscape. The fort successfully promotes a paint-ball club at present.

3. ŽIEGŽDRIAI GEOLOGICAL TRAIL

The 1.6 kilometre trail begins near Žiegždriai village. For those interested in genealogy it will be a great opportunity to learn to read the history recorded in the edges of crustal layers. The educational trail shows you porous clay and conglomerate outcrops, as well as grottoes.

4. PAKALNIŠKIAI EDUCATIONAL TRAIL

We suggest this trail for those interested in flora, birds and forest fauna. Journey time is about 2 hours, distance is 3 km. The route begins on Piliuonos Gatvė, the spot is marked on an information booth.

5. ARLAVIŠKIAI EDUCATIONAL TRAIL

Pedestrian trail with information stands and wooden benches on a slope edge stretching 1.3 km. The trail overlooks not only the slope which runs along Kadagiai (Juniper) Valley, but also the Kaunas Lagoon curled tail and Dabinta Island breaking through it.
6. DUBRAVA MINOR RESERVE EDUCATIONAL TRAIL

The area of Dubrava Minor Reserve is 120 ha where pines, which a man is not capable to embrace, of 33 meters high grow. About a quarter of the Dubrava minor reserve area are occupied by slender birch trees and small pine trees covered with moss and a tussock furrowed bog. The 1.9 km long educational trail with 8 information stands on the way introduce visitors to local flora and fauna features; it winds through all the most interesting places the Dubrava Reserve.

7. MERGALKALNIS OBSERVATION DECK

Mergakalnis is the highest point above Kaunas Lagoon. They say that in ancient times promiscuous women were tied up in bags and thrown from the cliff at this point. This place is now a resort with a beautiful landscape. Beside is you will see the Dovainonioi barrows, which according to findings date back to the 9th-12th century.

8. EXPOSURE OF CONGLOMERATES IN LAŠINIAI

This is a geological natural heritage site in Strėva Landscape Reserve of Kaunas Lagoon Regional Park. On the right bank of the river there is the Strėva ravine rock outcrop in Lašiniai village, Rumšiškės, Kaišiadorys District. A huge Lašiniai stone stands on the edge outcrop 200 meters south of the Strėva riverbank that opens up to the impressive Strėva exposure where geologists have found traces of amber.

9. DUBRAVA ARBORETUM

The Dubrava arboretum is currently the only one in Lithuania. Construction of the Arboretum began in 1958 at the Dubrava forest research station in the village of Vaišvydava, Kaunas. Over 1,000 taxonomic units of woody plants have been collected and analysed here (botanical species, subspecies, forms, and cultivars).

TWO SENSES
Restaurant & Bar

Inspired by local gardens, forests, rivers, and seasons.
Kaunas holds a number of secrets and extraordinary facts. It’s impossible to write them all down on paper, however, we believe that some are really worth knowing!

- Kaunas is where you will find the Vytautas the Great Bridge, aka the longest bridge in the world. In order to bridge the transition from one bank of the Nemunas to the other took 13 days, because Kaunas belonged to the Russian Empire and Aleksotas to the Prussian kingdom up to 1807. The different sides of the river had different calendars, which included a 13-day difference.

- It would probably be difficult to find out when a Lithuanian drank the first mug of beer but breweries were known in Lithuania from the oldest times. The beginning of brewage in Kaunas was the steam beer and malt factory built by the merchant I. B. Volfas in 1853 where “Volfas beer” was brewed for the first time.

- In 1910 the first puppet cartoon in the world “Fight of Stag Beetles” was created in Kaunas. The author of the cartoon is Vladislovas Starevičius. The main characters of the cartoon were huge insects stag beetles. Starevičius dried them, attached mechanical legs and joints and moved them in front of the camera.

- There was a horse-drawn tram in Laisvės avenue until 1929 which was called this way because a tram on a railing (Lith. konkė) was drawn by horses.

- S. Darius and S. Girėnas Airport, which still operates until the present day which was established in honour of pilots Stasys Darius and Steponas Girėnas, famous all over the world for their successful flight across the Atlantic in 1933 and plane crash under vague circumstances when less than a tenth of their trip was left.

- The story goes that if one makes a wish in lovers favourite Santaka park where the bends of two rivers, the river Nemunas (in other words, man) and the river Neris (in other words, woman), join it will come true. The confluence of two rivers is like the sacrament of marriage when two rivers join and never separate.
• Kaunas is called the capital of basketball, because the basketball team Kauno “Žalgiris” has existed for almost 70 years in this town. Such basketball stars as Arvydas Sabonis, Rimas Kurtinaitis, Šarūnas Jasikevičius, Mantas Kalnietis, Žydrūnas Ilgauskas, Donatas Motiejūnas, Paulius Jankūnas and Linas Kleiza were brought up in the capital of basketball.

• The business centre “1000” in Kaunas got into the Top 11 of the most unusual buildings of Europe composed by CNN.com and took a respectable second place. In 2010 the prestigious album of architecture “Collection: Offices” included it into the list of the 300 best world’s office buildings. In 2009 Lithuanian a record registration agency “Factum” recorded that a banknote of one thousand litas depicted on the building is the biggest stained glass in our country.

• “Fluxus Ministerija” operated in Kaunas in 2012-2013. It is decorated with the greatest graffiti drawings in Lithuania, „The Wise Old Man“ (by Tadas Šimkus and Žygimantas Amelynas). This drawing decorates not only the facade of the Ministry of Fluxus, but also the Kaunas panorama: the design is near the Confluence and well-visible from both rooftops and from both sides of the river.

• The most beautiful Christmas trees are in Kaunas. According to the people of Lithuania. Four years in a row the most originally decorated Christmas trees are the decoration of the Kaunas Old Town. In 2012 an emerald 16 metre high Christmas tree was acknowledged as the highest sculpture made of plastic bottles in the world and was included in the Guiness World Records.

• There is “Sėjikas” (Seeding man) sculpture in the garden of Kaunas War Museum which sows stars at night.
